“His victim, Tosca, was acted and sung by Donna-Maree Dunlop with tremendous pathos and warmth: her stunning Vissi d’arte was shot through with heart-wringing despair. This superbly-voiced and technically polished soprano is certainly one to watch.”

David Hart, Birmingham Post, 19 August 2000

“The Australian soprano Donna-Maree Dunlop gave a rich and beautifully controlled performance as Tosca, balancing dignity with passion, a trapped and ultimately tragic heroine in which we could well believe.”

Patric Standford, Yorkshire Post, 14 July 2000

“She tackles this fairly serious ‘trouser role’ with immense flair and skill. Her act two dialogue is spunky and full of teenage bravado; her singing clear and vibrant.”

Chris Boyd, Financial Review, January 2002

“But the brightest gem among the newcomers to this production was Donna-Maree Dunlop’s Siébel – as nimble and boyish exponent of the part as I’ve ever encountered, and wonderfully expressive both vocally and as to body language.”

David Gyger, Opera-Opera, February 2002

“But equally fine is the contribution of former Canberra soprano Donna-Maree Dunlop, in the important role of the young man Siebel.....she does this with an assurance that makes her every appearance believable, while singing with a firm and fine tonal quality.”

W L Hoffmann, Canberra Times, 1 February 2002
